This project included full renovation of Tully Hall, plus 65,000 sq ft of new construction for Juilliard School. Tully Hall occupies the lower 2 floors; Juilliard School occupies the top 3 floors. The lighting concept unifies and brings a nocturnal identity to the project, emphasizing the institution’s nighttime vitality. Lighting emphasizes transparency of the glass facades, using interior surfaces as reflectors of light.

Designed in 1969, the Alice Tully Hall / Juilliard School building was often described as "un-ker-like, defensibly cut-off from the city. The design team’s task was to open Alice Tully Hall and Juilliard School public spaces to daylight and views, to reengage the vibrant city life surrounding Lincoln Center. - Jason Neches
